Brand Voice Spectrum

The brand voice guides the tone and personality of all the visual and verbal communications—it informs everything the brand will express through words and pictures. The chart below helps map it:

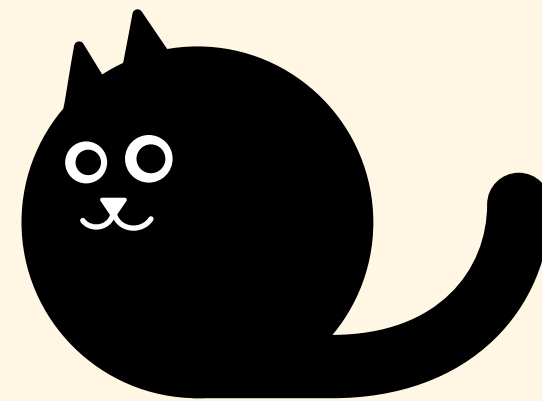

VISUAL IDENTITY

QShala's identity system has a mascot, lovingly called QT. Inspired by the form of letter Q, QT is a curious being that embodies every trait of a constantly curious, exploratory, creative cat. It rolls, it falls, it sticks out its tiny paws to reach out for wool and everything else that we love about curious cats.

The copywriting uses these visual metaphors to translate communication for parents, children and teachers effectively and succinctly, without breaking character and losing the curious and fun spirit. The colours work towards aiding this simple yet bold visual language system to speak to the audience exploring the connection with QT and curiosity.
